I got this color by number coloring book as a gift a few weeks ago from a family member. This book is different from your average coloring book and is one that I have really enjoyed!This book contains 32 pictures to color in - all of them are animals. Examples include: flamingo, snake, giraffe, butterfly, horse, hippo, bear, rooster, elephant, dog, cat, chameleon, tiger, camel, wolf, ram, etc. The pictures are divided into three categories: Beginning, Intermediate and Advanced. You will want to start with the "Beginning" category to get the hang of it and also to sort of "develop" your color by number skills. And speaking of coloring skills, there are several pages at the beginning of the book that give you ideas for different coloring techniques. Also at the beginning of the book is the color key so that you know what color matches up to what number, as well as a full color photo of each finished project. A lot of the finished projects have a "watercolor" look, where the colors blend together, and for me, it wasn't quite possible, using colored pencils, to get this blended look, not only because my picture, of course, had the color by number lines, but it was just hard for me to figure out how to choose colors that blend together. This is why I'm starting with the "beginning" category and working my way up to the "intermediate" projects. Choosing colors that blend together better is something that I think will get easier as I work on more of these pictures.The paper these designs are printed on is pretty heavy, smooth, and easy to color on. The book itself is a bit larger than your average adult coloring book (it's a little taller).
